What is MeFree?

Logo

Me Free is designed to allow people to have a clear view of their events or activities and to invite, accept or decline the invitations easily.

It is free and will be updated with more features in the future
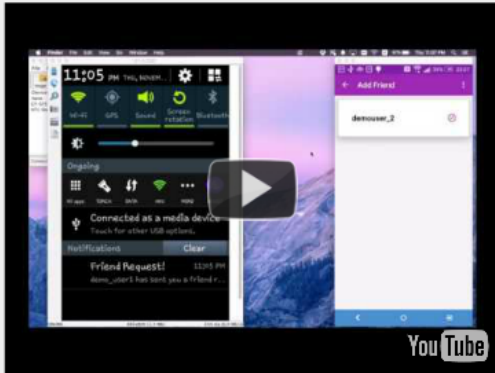

Objective: Login and register

Login & Register

The video on the left shows how to register a new account or login with an existing one.

The right phone is going to login while the left phone is going to register a new account. Although you see that two displayed the same view, the app notifies if it is a new account registration or old account login by checking the username existed or not in the server.

If the username exists and the password input matches, user will be logged in. If the username does not exists, a new account is registered with the password input.
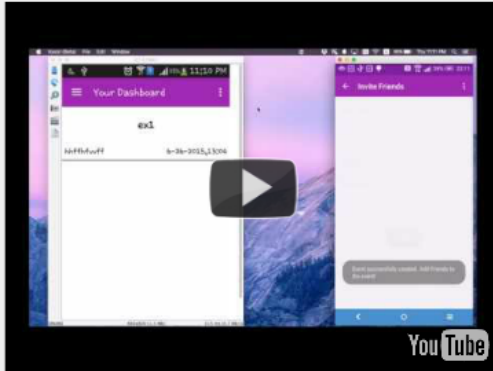

Objective: Adding Friends

Add Friends

This video is going to show how to add friends between two users.

The right phone is going to send a friend request to the one on the left in "Add Friend" activity from the navigation bar.

The left one will receive a friend request popup notification. When you click on the notification, it goes to the "Friend Requests" activity and waits for your acceptance or rejection. We accept the request this time for demonstration.

The right one will receive a friend request accepted notification and go to the "Current Friends" view by clicking on it. Now they are friends.
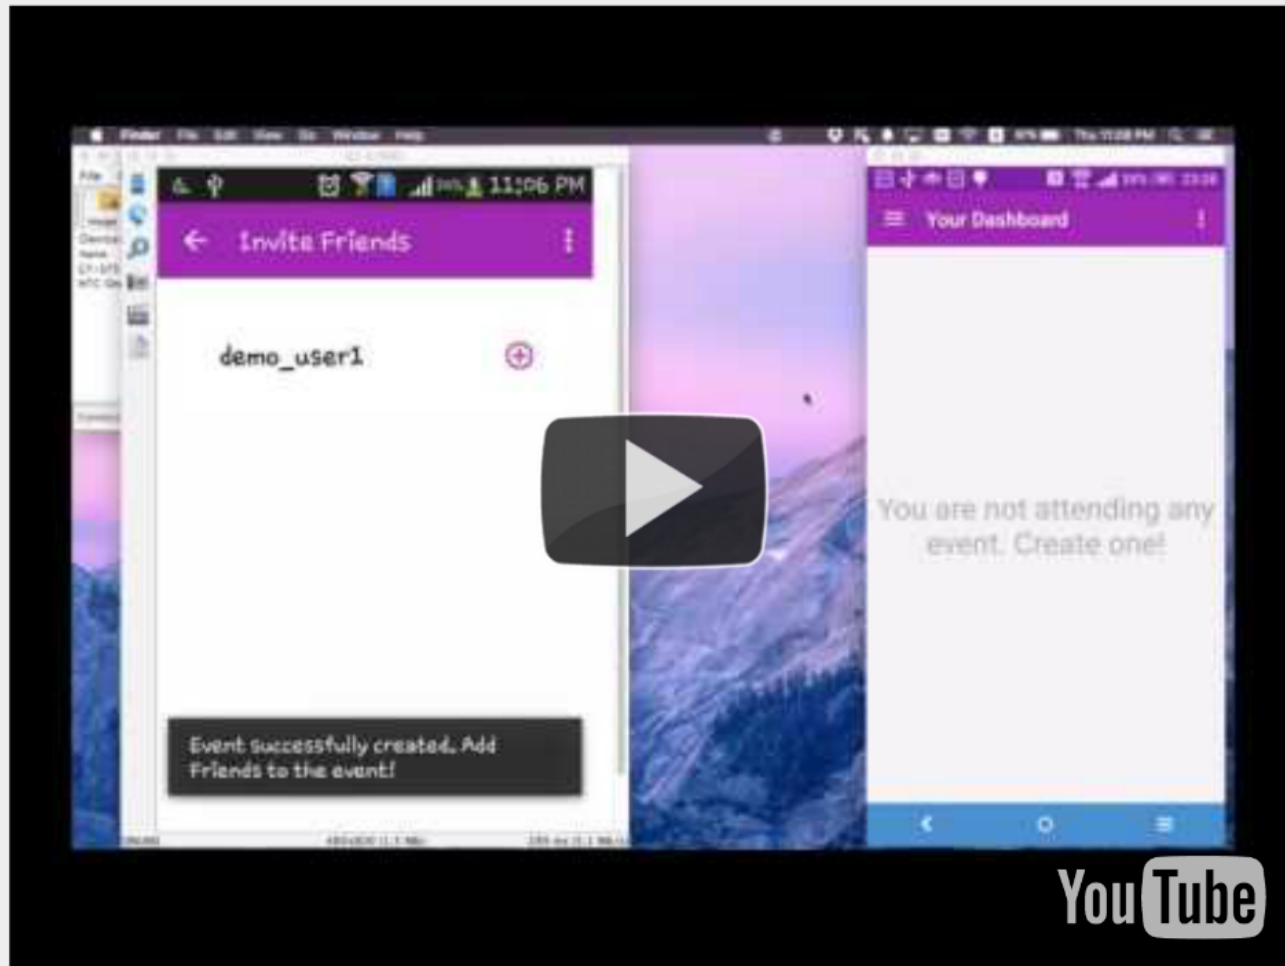

Objective: Creating Events and inviting

Create Event & Invite Friends

The right one is going to create a new event. First of all, you enter all the information of the events. After clicking create button you can invite friends to the events you create.
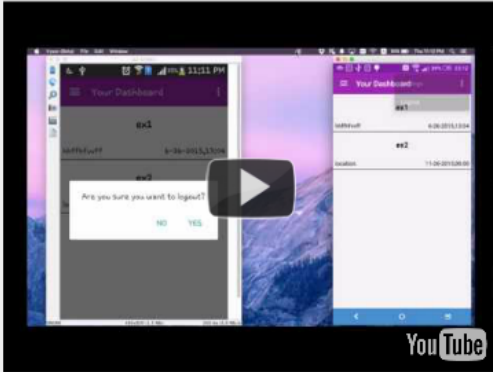

Your friend(the left one) will receive a notification after you invite them. They can check the event information to decide whether to attend or not. Also, hosts and guests can see who is attending.

After confirmation, the Going List and Dasboard are updated.

Objective: Logging out

Logout

It is quite simple to have logout function while having login and register.

It essentially means the user can log in with another device with the same account.
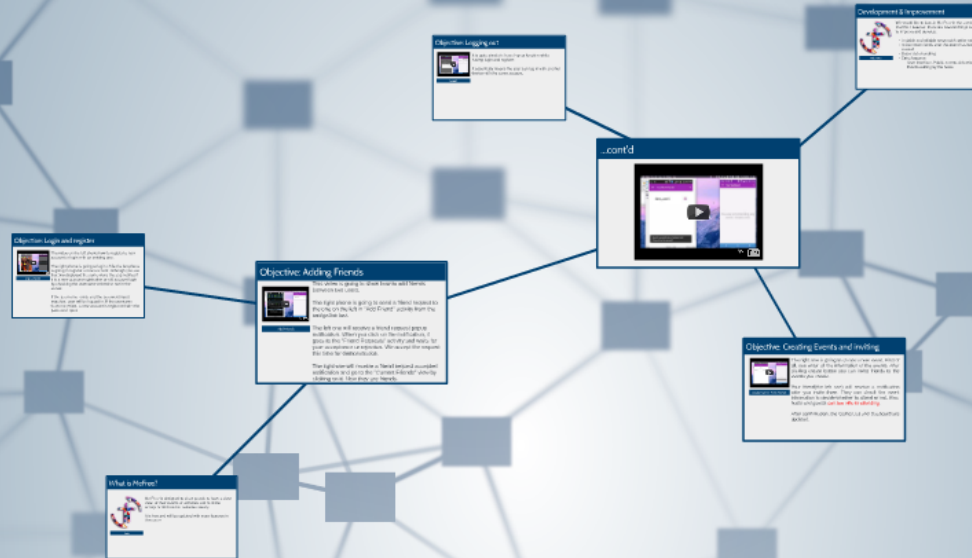

Development & Improvement

In the Future

We would like to launch Me Free in the coming months. However, there are several things we need to improve and develop.

- A stable and reliable server with better network
- Invite more friends after the event has been created
- Better data handling
- Extra features:
  User Interface, Public events, Advertisement, Events editing by the hosts
